CONCERT

Musique française au CUM

Pour recueillir des fonds destinés à sauver les enfants malades.

L'Association URA (United Republic of Art) a été fondée afin de proposer avec ses partenaires (artistes, organismes, mécènes et sponsors) des événements caritatifs dans notre région. Les bénéfices de ce(s) sont alloués à l'achat de nouveaux matériels et machines destinés à sauver des enfants victimes de crises cardiaques et améliorer leur quotidien dans le service de réanimation de l'Hopital Lénval, mais aussi permettre que le centre d'accueil des enfants artistes situé à Annot, La Maison d'Amélie, inaugurée par S.A.S. le Prince Albert II de Monaco en 2013 et soutenue par Monaco Disease Power, puisse recueillir des fonds pour son fonctionnement. Pour devise ? « Une vie sauve, l'humanité sauve ».

La cantatrice Sandra St. Milla (qui a interprété les grands rôles lyriques de mezzo-soprano et toutes les œuvres allant du répertoire baroque à la musique d'aujourd'hui, par ailleurs fondatrice du Festival Cantierres à Bérenger) préside aux destinées de cette association et s'est attachée notamment le concours des Solistes de Monte-Carlo (tous musiciens de l'Orchestre Philharmonique de la Principauté) sous la direction de Jean-Louis Dedieu pour présenter une série de concerts sur la Côte d'Azur et à Paris.

D'ores et déjà, le premier a eu lieu au CUM à Nice le 13 janvier dernier avec pour thème « Russie mon amour » avec des œuvres orchestrales et vocales alternant musique classique et répertoire de chants traditionnels russes. Dans un programme à venir particulièrement copieux, on note, parmi les projets déjà arrêtés, La petite messe solennelle de Rossini avec le Chœur de l'Opéra de Nice, puis les Kinderlieder de Mahler au Théâtre des Variétés à Monte-Carlo ainsi qu'un Concerto des siens au Palm Beach de Cannes pendant le Festival du Film.

Mais la toute prochaine étape aura lieu au Centre Universitaire Méditerranéen, à Nice. Sandra St. Milla et les Solistes de Monte-Carlo y interpréteront un programme intitulé Douce France consacré à la musique française (extraits classiques et chansons) avec Marc Larcher, ténor, Bernard Imbert, baryton, et Marie-Caroline Kfoury, soprano.
